

‘What the quack is all this rubbish?!!!’

Reportage photo

Welcome to the world of rubbish. The photo illustrates the first view these ducklings will have of the world. There are 3 separate pieces of rubbish shown, an iron rod, a plastic tube and a single-use plastic bag. To the ducklings it will be their ‘normal’ as they know no different. Instinct will also mean that they may try to eat the items. What if their first food kills them as their bodies fail to digest the plastic? Wildlife in our gardens could be under threat unless we take personal responsibility to clear our own gardens and its surroundings of harmful rubbish. (All rubbish was removed after this photo was taken)
