

... AND ACTION!

Rubbish and littering behaviours in the group

ACTIVITY: Produce a film, a theatre piece, or a photo story that depicts typical situations from your everyday life that deal with the topic of rubbish and littering. Imagine, for example:

"Finally summer, finally school holidays. You spent the whole day hanging out with friends in the park, had a picnic, and played soccer. Now the day is coming to an end and it's almost time to go home. But what are you guys going to do with all the rubbish that piled up over the course of the day? There isn't a single rubbish bin nearby where you and your friends can discard your drink bottles, wrappers, and food packaging bags! But then James had an idea..."

TASK 1: Do you recognise this situation? What would you do in their position? Share your experiences regarding how you handle rubbish. If you are out with your friends or on a school field trip - do you then dispose of your rubbish more or less, more thoroughly or more carelessly? What behaviour of others have you noticed? Develop recommendations regarding how to avoid rubbish and how you can keep public spaces clean.

TASK 2: Now continue working on your screenplay.

Incorporate your experiences and ideas that you worked on in Task 1. This includes: main characters, the time and place of the situation, a situation conflict / problem, a climax, and the solution of the conflict.

"With ownership comes responsibility!"

This is a well-known rule of behaviour in the business world. Does that also relate to the packaging of an item that you call your own?
